THE SIXTH FLOOR MUSEUM AT DEALEY PLAZA

It has been more than 50 years since President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in downtown Dallas, yet his legacy lives on at The Sixth Floor Museum at Dealey Plaza. Located in the former Texas School Book Depository, The Sixth Floor Museum presents the social and political landscape of the early 1960s, chronicles President Kennedy's assassination and its aftermath, and reflects upon his lasting impact on our country and our world.

Plan a visit to The Sixth Floor Museum and learn more about the man, his story and his legacy.

DISCOVER PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S LASTING IMPRESSION ON OUR COUNTRY

JOHN F. KENNEDY AND THE MEMORY OF A NATION

The Museum's permanent exhibit is located on the sixth floor of the former Texas School Book Depository where significant evidence of a sniper was found. The exhibit presents hundreds of historic television and radio broadcasts, films, photographs and artifacts to tell the story of President Kennedy's assassination. The sniper's perch and the area where a rifle was found remain preserved as they appeared on that day. Also on display is a scale model of Dealey Plaza created by the FBI, and much more.

AUDIO GUIDE

An audio guide, included with exhibit admission, features historic radio broadcasts and the voices of reporters, police and witnesses to the assassination. Available in several languages, the audio guide is narrated by Pierce Allman, the first reporter to broadcast from the Depository on November 22, 1963. The guide is also available in American Sign Language (ASL).

THE SEVENTH FLOOR

The seventh floor plays host to a variety of special programs and exhibits that complement the Museum's permanent collection and provide context for President Kennedy's legacy. The space is available for corporate meetings, business receptions and rentals. Visit jfk.org for more information.

READING ROOM

Overlooking Dealey Plaza, the Reading Room provides access to an extensive library of books, magazines, newspapers, media resources and oral histories related to the assassination. This free resource is open to the public Monday through Friday by appointment only. Email readingroom@jfk.org to schedule a visit.

ORAL HISTORY PROJECT

The Oral History Project preserves personal recollections of the life and death of President Kennedy and other events of the early 1960s. The collection includes firsthand accounts from eyewitnesses, law enforcement officials, news media and others. Contact oralhistory@jfk.org if you have a story to share.

MUSEUM BOOKSTORE/MUSEUM STORE + CAFÉ

The Museum Bookstore offers a variety of books and media, prints and posters, and commemorative items. The Museum Store + Café, across the street at 501 Elm, features an expanded assortment of gift items that reflect the pop culture of the 1960s and our Texas heritage. Ice cream, smoothies, sandwiches and healthy snacks can be purchased in the Café.

TEXAS SCHOOL BOOK DEPOSITORY

The Texas School Book Depository was constructed in 1901. Evidence suggests shots were fired from the sixth floor as President Kennedy's motorcade went past the building. Depository employee Lee Harvey Oswald was charged with the president's murder. Today, the former warehouse is called the Dallas County Administration Building.

DEALEY PLAZA

Dealey Plaza was built in the 1930s and named for civic leader George Bannerman Dealey. It was designated a National Historic Landmark District in 1993. A well-known feature of the plaza is the grassy knoll, which rises from the north side of Elm Street.

DEALEY PLAZA CELL PHONE WALKING TOUR

Use your phone to learn more about Dealey Plaza, important assassination-related sites, and the Kennedy Memorial. Available for purchase in the Visitors Center and in both Museum stores, the walking tour includes a narrated guide and illustrated map.

JOHN F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL PLAZA

The memorial is located on Market Street between Main and Commerce. Dedicated in 1970, it was designed by Philip Johnson as a cenotaph, or "open tomb," to symbolize the freedom of President Kennedy's spirit.
