

Mourning a President

RESOURCES FOR FURTHER STUDY

Over the decades, the funeral of President Kennedy and its aftermath has been documented and interpreted by many authors, artists and historians. The following titles are some additional resources to complement the Mourning a President exhibition and related programs. For more in-depth treatments or additional information, contact the Reading Room at readingroom@jfk.org.

Books

Berry, Wendell. November Twenty Second Nineteen Sixty-Three. New York: George Braziller, 1964.

Fitzpatrick, Ellen. Letters to Jackie: Condolences from a Grieving Nation. New York: Ecco, 2010.

Geer, Candy. Six White Horses: An Illustrated Poem about John-John. Michigan: M & W Quill Publishing Co., 1964.

Keim, Peter and Kevin Keim. Grand Old Flag: A History of the United States Through Its Flags. New York: DK Publishing, 2007.

Lee, William F. The Boys in Blue Dress. Indiana: AuthorHouse, 2007.

Leeke, Jim. Long Shadows: The Farewell to JFK. Virginia: Attic Window Publishing, 2008.

Nowak, Martin S. The White House in Mourning: Deaths and Funerals of Presidents in Office. North Carolina: McFarland & Co., 2010.

Poole, Robert M. On Hallowed Ground: The Story of Arlington National Cemetery. New York: Bloomsbury, 2010.

Reid, Thomas. Their Finest Hour: The Old Guard at the State Funeral of President John F. Kennedy. Pennsylvania: Word Association, 2008.

Magazines

Grovesnor, Melville. "The Last Full Measure: The World Pays Tribute to President Kennedy." National Geographic, March 1964.

"Kennedy's Last Journey" and "The World Mourns J.F.K." LIFE 6 Dec. 1963.